RIDDLE OF THE WEEK

Two boys are born to the same mother, on the same day, at the same time in the same month and year and yet they're not twins. How can this be?

Answer will be in next weeks newsletter

Answer to last weeks riddle

Imagine there are 3 coins on the table: gold, silver, and copper. If you make a truthful statement, you will get one coin. If you make a false statement, you will get nothing. What sentence can guarantee you getting the gold coin?

Answer: "You will give me neither copper nor silver coin." If it is true, then I have to get the gold coin. If it is a lie, then the negation must be true, so "you give me either copper or silver coin", which would break the given conditions that you get no coin when lying. So the first sentence must be true.

Story of the week

A conversation that took place on 13 Nissan 5712 A young boy, free from cheder, was playing outside the Rebbe's room. When the Rebbe saw him, he inquired why he was not learning. The child explained that there was no cheder during the days preceding Pesach. The Rebbe repeated his question, and the child, thinking that the Rebbe had not understood him, repeated his answer, Seeing that the child was not comprehending, the Rebbe took a sefer, from his table, opened it to the last page, and patiently said to the child "Do you see how many pages there are in this sefer? And do you see how many seforim there are in this room? And do you know that there are many more seforim?" The child nodded his head in the affirmative, and the Rebbe continued: "When will you master all these seforim, if you do not learn in your own time"???

TRIVIA QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

Winner of last weeks trivia question

What do we tell the smart son by the Seder? What does it mean?

The correct answer:

אין מפטירין אחר הפסח
אפיקומן, it means that you cannot eat any dessert after the
Korban Pesach
(today, the Afikoman Matzah is in the place of the Korban Pesach)
